key takeaways

- due to the COVID-19 quarantine, as well as the ban on international travel, up to 70% of hotels in the Ukraine were closed until mid-June
- demand for mountain and countryside resorts was higher than expected
- major tourism industry players (including HORECA, tour operators, etc.) prepared an action plan to support the industry and appealed to the Prime Minister and President requesting assistance; so far, some generic declarative measures are in place, but participants expect more effective government support
- the current situation is motivating different players in the tourism industry to unite in professional associations
- many employees of hotels and restaurants are on temporary leave with no pay
- so far, after easing of the quarantine restrictions, occupancy has reached a level between around 10% to 15%, while ADR has decreased by around 30% compared to last year
- it is expected that the recovery to pre-COVID crisis levels could take two or three years
- hotel market players expect huge changes in sanitation and hygiene measures to rebuild trust - in-room cleaning, a mask regime, social distancing and new standards for breakfast will become a focus
- a slowdown of new projects is expected due to the strong decline of demand and lack of financing – at the same time this creates the opportunity in the acquisition of existing i.e. distressed assets
